GLOSSARY - FINISHES

Antico	Tiles are turned around in a tumbling machine filled with ceramic pebbles. This gives the appearance of old tiles worn by time with a natural patina.
Aquaflamed	The tile is first treated with water at high pressure (hydrojet) and the brushed, to accentuate the intense natural colour of the stone.
Bouchardino	The surface of the stone is bush hammered then brushed, to give the stone a relatively smooth textured surface.
Brossato	Tiles have the diamond cut surface made smoother with the aid of brushes under high pressure. This light textured finish is relatively anti-slip.
Bush Hammered	The stone is worked with a bush hammer to create small wells in the surface. This gives the stone a rough and non-slip surface.
Chiselled	Grooves are drawn parallel or slightly oblique to the edges of the tiles. This operation gives the stone a rough and non-slip surface.
Convento	Random lengths of natural stone with a fixed width of 20cm and an antiqued finish.
Diamond Cut	The raw stone is cut into unfinished slabs. The type of saw that is used determines whether parallel ridges or circular strokes can be seen on the surface.
Enodesign	Unique anti-slip surface made up of numerous minute off-white points on a grey background, as though very finely hammered.
Enoluce	The first matte and dark finish in blue stone that can be used outside, to bring out the striking mineral complexity of Belgian blue limestone.
Enopasso	Old-style Belgian blue paving for a contemporary setting: dark grey to satiny black colour with an aged patina and particularly soft to the touch.
Enopure	Contemporary Belgian blue flagstones, nuanced light grey with blue lines. Smooth texture with saw marks which will soften over time.
Enoskin	A beautiful, light, homogeneous grey which is slightly grainy but with a soft and structured appearance with anti-slip properties.
Enostyl (Dark/Light)	Grey tiles with an aged patina, worn edges and corners slightly broken. A reminder of flagstones in old castles and churches.
Enotouch	A deep grey blue finish bringing out the stone's shells and crinoids, with a smooth and soft surface for a satin-like appearance.
Flamed	The surface is brought into contact with flames then immediately cooled with water. The temperature shock gives the stone a fractured, non-slip texture.
Gelido	Unique surface treatment in which the tile retains its rough edge but with a surface that is nonetheless relative flat (anti-slip effect).
Hand Cleft	Rough and natural looking. Cleaving the stones by hand reveals the original aspect of the stone visible - big flakes, cavities and bulges of various shapes.
Hand Honed	The saw marks from diamond cutting are removed by rubbing the surface with sand and water. The surface can still contain some fine visible saw marks.
Henegouwen Antic	Old fashioned and warm flagstones with a worn and trammelled appearance, slightly irregular texture and slightly broken corners.
Heritage	Tiles are half hand honed, so that some roughness is retained, then brushed. This aged effect gives the flooring a used look and breathes authenticity.
Honed	Surfaces are fine rubbed using different grades of abrasives under factory conditions. The surface is smooth and matt without visible grooves.
Klinkstone	Warm and old-fashioned with a slightly irregular texture and slightly broken corners, a reminder of old castles and abbeys.
Natural Cleft (riven)	A finish achieved when layered stones (usually slate or sandstone) are split, or cleft, leaving a naturally rough surface which is uneven and varied.
Polished	Machined with fine abrasives to give a reflective surface showing strong colours. The degree of polishing is determined by the mineral elements in the stone.
Sabbiatino	The surface is worked with a very fine bush hammer, then brushed, to give the stone a relatively smooth textured surface.
Sablino	The surface is honed or hand honed, then sandblasted under high pressure, then lightly brushed. This gives a semi-rough finish which feels very natural.
Satino	Tiles are first hand honed and flamed, then brushed. This semi-rough finish is relatively antislip, with easy maintenance and less sensitivity to scratches.
Scraped	The surface is hand honed with water only. This gives a darker finished surface than normal hand honing (which is with the aid of sand or a diamond).
Sensato	Fine structure obtained by mechanical treatment. The smooth structure makes it pleasant to the touch.
Shotblasted	The surface is blasted with fine metal fragments under high pressure and afterwards lightly brushed. This creates a rough look.
Skintouch	Tiles are brushed under factory conditions, to give the surface a light textured feel like leather.
Stonewashed	The stone is treated in a bath of ceramic chips. The scouring effect rounds off the sharp edges and gives the surface a rich patina.
Versailles	The surfaces of the tiles are hand honed and brushed, then the edges are milled to give a rustic appearance.
Vieux Manoir	The surface of the tile is rustically distressed by a combination of hand honing, milling and brushing. The edges are highly distressed.
Vintage	First the tile is lightly scoured, then it is aged using a roller washing system.
